STARTING THE MACHINERY. THE CAMPAIGN GETTING INTO SHAPE

AT BOTH READQUARTERS. Mr. Whitney's Rejeinder to Mr. Grace-Re newal of the Report that President Har-rison is Coming Here to See the Boys, Things are getting in shape at National Democratic headquarters. The Hon. Don Manuel Dickinson, whom the fellows at Republican headquarters refer to as "the man with the ginger-als side whiskers." arrived from Detroit yesterday, and in his wake came Benjamin T. Cable of Illinois, ex-Secretary William C. Whitney, William R. Grace, Clerk Charles R. De Freest of the Democratic State Committee, Senator Wilkinson Call, John Sheridan of the National Committee from West Virginia, the Hon. Timothy Justinian Campbell, and Gen. Ben Lafevre. Bradley B Smalley, the great man of the Green Mountain State, and Josiah Quincy of Massachu setts were also on hand. There was a quorum of the Campaign Committee on hand. and Chairman Dickinson called them together in the evening. Only routine matters were discussed. The gratifying information was imparted that money is coming in rapidly.

Mr. William C. Whitney had read in THE Bun of the aches and pains of the Anti-Snappers over his elevation, and he prepared a statement. It was pounded out on one of the many typewriters at headquarters, and it as a follows:

a statement. It was pounded out on one of the many typewriters at headquarters, and it is as follows:

"I quite agree with Mr. Grace. I have no doubt it is quite true, as he says, that there is some dissatisfaction owing to the prominence given to me and Tammany Hall. My part has been greatly magnified; it has been made too much of. I have not been a party to it myself, and have refused all honors in connection with the campaign. These things will wear off. Mr. Grace bimself will be very influential in smoothing out differences. It will take a little time. After such a contest over the nomination as there has been we must expect individual jealousies. In the main our people are united. There is a grand public spirit actuating the party at this moment—a determination to win. I have never seen a campaign open with the same spirit of loyalty and devotion. Mr. Cleveland has publicly stated his determination to forget that there have been any differences. In a short time no one in the Syracuse movement will be looking around to see whom he is locking arms with, whether a Tammany man or one of his own people. I see this coming very rapidly, and am very sorry at any time to be myself the cause of any bad feeling."

Chairman William Frank Harrity appointed Col. John Tracy to be chief of the Press Bureau of headquarters. This is a place which domands the keenest knowledge of public matters, the most comprehensive discretion, and Col. Tracy's friends were pleased at Mr. Harrity's selection. Mr. De Freest is in town to select the Democratic State Headquarters. The most notable visitors at the Hon. Thomas Hanry Cartar's political amprecium.

select the Democratic State Headquarters. The old parlors in the Hoffman House are the favored spot.

The most notable visitors at the Hon. The most notable visitors at the Hon. Thomas Henry Carter's political emporium were Gen. Michener of Indiana and Gen. J. P. Hahn of Ohio. Gen. Michener knows all about the intricate complications of Hoosier State politics. Judge Waiter Q. Gresham and a few of his friends, it appears, are not in the most delightful mood, but Gen. Michener hopes for the best. The Democratic machinery of the great stamping ground of Saddle Bags MacDonald and the lamented Thomas A. Hendricks is in fine running order. It was the gossip at Republican headquarters that President Harrison is to stop over in New York on his return from Loon Lake the first week in September or thereabouts; that the New Yorkers, it is declared, are to get up a reception for him in Madison Square Garden; that all the chieftains are to be on hand, and that the President is to make the greatest speech of his life. William Brookfield, Chairman of the State Committee and President of the County Committee, has been with the President at Loon Lake for several days. It is given out that the Republican National Committee will not openly take a hand in the Alabama dispute between Rolb and Jones, but at the same time that a fight has been determined upon, and that it will be directed through the underground wires leading out of the Hon. Thomas Henry Carter's bureau at 518 Fifth avenue.

Mr. Carter is almost positive that a meeting of the Evaputive Committee with a return to a supplication of the county committee will a supplied the supplied to the county Carter's bureau at 518 Fifth avenue.

the Hon. Thomas Henry Carter's bureau at the Hon. Thomas Henry Carter's bureau at 518 Fifth avenue.

Mr. Carter is almost positive that a meeting of the Executive Committee will be held some time to-day. Affairs are in better shape with the Republicans, just as they are with the Democrats. The chaotic turmoil of early headquarters' days are gradually becoming quiet; the bickerings and jealousies of place are being softened to some degree, and before the month is out it is predicted that all hands in both camps will be solidly arrayed in battle line.

NO POLITICAL ASSESSMENTS. The Civil Service Commission Calls Attention to the Law on the Subject. WARRINGTON, Aug. 11 .- Good Government, the official organ of the National Civil Service Reform League, will, on Aug. 15, make public the following announcement by the United States Civil Service Commission:

United States Civil Sauvice Commission, | Washington, D. C., July 27, 1802. At the outset of the political campaign, which is now pending, this Commission feels it to be its duty to call public attention to the provisions of the Civil Service law in relation to political assessments or contributions, to inform Government employees of their rights in the premises, and to warn those not in the Government service, of whatever political party, not to infringe upon these rights.

Political assessments, under any gnise, are prohibited by law. The provisions of the law on the subject are, in substance, as follows:

First—That no Government officer or employee shall, directly or indirectly, solicit or receive, in any manner whatever, a contribution for political purposes from any other Government officer or employee.

Second—That no Government officer or employee shall make a contribution for political purposes to any other Government officer or employee. ATLANTA. Aug. 11.-The Republican State Convention assembled here at noon, and was called to order by Chairman Lock. The Convention refused to put out any State ticket. Debates showed a strong feeling in favor of the People's party ticket, at the head of which stands Col. Feck. An electoral ticket, however, was agreed upon, after which the Convention adjourned.

On all sides a fusion with the Democrats is being discussed, and such a thing is not thought to be improbable. It is thought that the Demo-crats will not be averse to a fusion on the basis of the vote cast last year by the two par-ties. This will give the Democrats twelve electors and the Feople's party only one.

Republican dealousies in Ohio.

CINCINNATI. Aug. 11 .- Both the Republican Dapers here deny that there has been any trouble with Senator Sherman about the Ohio campaign, but so confused is the situation that even the date has been changed for the opening meeting, and there is now a prospect that it will be abandoned altogether.

GRACE MEN OF THE NINETEENTH. They Start a Campaign Club and Listen to Everett P. Wheeler's Remarks.

Twenty anti-snappers of the Nineteenth Assembly district answered the call of H' de Forest Baldwin, Chairman of the Executive Committee, to attend a meeting at 998 Eighth avenue and organize a Democratic campaign club all their own in the district. Young Mr. Baldwin, who is a member of the Union League Club, introduced himself to his auditors as the Chairman of the Executive Committee, and was nominated for Chairman of the meeting. J. Rockwell Fay became President of the campaign club, Isaac H. Klein, Treasurer; Peter Masterson and George H. Richards, Secre-

Everett P. Wheeler made a speech. He began by saying that the political conditions in New York State had been peculiar for several years. There was a feeling after the battle of 1884 that the men who had fought it should give way to others who wanted to run things. "These men." continued Mr. Wheeler, "were allowed to have their way, and the resuit was disappointment, for they didn't carry the State for Cleveland in 1888. The ma-chinery was in the same hands until last win-ter when a feeling of indignation was aroused in the breasts of all true Democrats, because they were ignored, and had no show at the

in the breasts of all true Democrats, because they were ignored, and had no show at the primaries."

Mr. Wheeler was sure that there never had been a more effective canvas than the one carried on by the Syracuse delegates at Chicago. He said that the feeling of the Democratic hosts at Chicago was with the Syracusans, whatever they may have considered their formal duty in deciding what delegation should be recognized. "We were getting the real success." he said, "and we could afford to give the others a little show, and we withdrew our request for recognition. Our organization has come to stay. We are not going to melt away, but we will hold the Democracy of the State to the principles of the party."

Then a Bowery tailor by the name of Leonard, who belongs to the anti-snap organization of the Eighth district, waxed eloquent over the greatness of ex-Mayor Grace. He was certain that if they accepted Grace, "the most powerful political individual in New York." as their leader, they would get some of the spoils by and by.

Fellows was the principal speaker, and his remarks were greeted with prolonged applause.

850 EXCURSIONISTS STRANDED.

The Steamer Shelter Island Runs Aground

New London, Aug. 11 .- This afternoon at about 3 o'clock the steamer Shelter Island. Capt. Gibbs, from Greenport and Sag Harbor, with about 350 excursionists aboard, became disabled in the Thames River, about three miles north of this city, and crashed into a wharf at which she attempted to make a landing, and ran aground about ten yards further down. Almost a panic ensued for a few minutes, but the closeness of the shore and the easy position in which the boat lay calmed the fears of the passengers. The position of the steamer was noticed from the navy yard, and the launch from there was sent to her assistance. There being no immediate danger, the launch was requested to continue to New London for a tug to haul the steamer off.

The response was prompt, but the position of the steamer and the tide rapidly falling prevented any relief that way until about 11 P. M., when the tide would be at its height P. M., when the tide would be at its height again. The passengers had the alternative of romaining on board to await the flood tide at midnight or come to this city. As the vessel rested easily all but about twenty-five decided to remain on board, especially as there was no way for them to reach home except by way of New York. Provision was made from this city to supply the stranded passengers with eatables, and they made themselves as comfortable as possible under the circumstances.

The cause of the accident was the breaking of some of the paddle buckets and the bout not responding to the wheel in the endeavor to make a landing at the wharf. The wharf was an old one, used only in the transfer of ice from an adjacent lee house. At about 9:30 o'clock Wrecker T.A. Scott put one of his largest tugs to work on the steamer, and succeeded in getting her off the mud bank and towing her to this harbor, so that she could proceed to her destination. She was found to be practically uninjured, and safe to make the trip after some slight repairs, which were made after she had stranded.

The steamer was expected to reach Greenport on her return trip at 5 o'clock this afternoon, and then leave for New York on her regular daily trip.

TRIED TO HIDE HIS VILLAINY,

Society in a Canadian Town Stirred Up

Over an Unsavory Scandal. WINNIPEG. Aug. 11.-The arrest of Col. Ray. prominent banker and military man of Port Arthur, has created a tremendous sensation in society circles. Col. Ray met Mrs. Bathurst, wife of Dr. Bathurst, a well-known physician, and engaged her in conversation. They walked toward the Bathurst residence. and when it was reached the Colonel asked permission to enter. A few minutes later he made a proposition to the lady which so startled her that she swooned. Then, Mrs. Bathurst says, the Colonel assaulted her. When the lady recovered she at once alarmed the household.

When the lady recovered she at once alarmed the household.

Col. Ray, hearing that proceedings were to be taken, sent a friend with a check for $5,000 to try and suppress the matter. This proved unsuccessful, and Mrs. Bathurst at once swore out a warrant for the man's arrest. Dr. Bathurst, who was out of the city, did not return until the following day. He is furious over the outrage, and threatens to shoot hay if he escapes justice in the courts.

THIEF COMPLAINS OF POLICEMAN.

Should Anybody Believe Him! There was an unusual scene in Inspector Conlin's office yesterday morning. Policeman John Hock of the Fifth street station had been summoned to answer a complaint of clubbing made by a man named Sherwood, who, the police say, also travels under the name of Har-

Sherwood charged that Hock had clubbed him on Wednesday morning in Second avenue, near First street. Hock denied the avenue, near first street. Hock denied the ciubbing, and said that Sherwood was a thief, and that he had simply driven Sherwood off the post. Detective Jacobs and several other Central Office men identified Sherwood as a character whose picture is in the Rogues' Gallery. They said he had been arrested for stealing a watch and also for swindling people with tickets for begus entertainments. Inspector Conlin told Sherwood to clear out and would not take his complaint.

Found Shelter in a Dog Kennel.

A Brooklyn policeman early yesterday mornng found a woman and three small children huddled together in a large dog kennel in the rear yard of 548 Court street. The woman said she was Mary Ryan, and that she and her children had been put out of the house early in the evening by a constable acting for the landlord, who had dispossessed them for non-payment of rent. Hyan is serving a term in jall for drunkenness. Agent Caschina of the Children's Society took the children, and Mrs. Hyan, who is ill, was sent to the Flatbush flospital.

Speaker Crisp Welcomed Home.

AMERICUS, Ga., Aug. 11.-Speaker Crisp arived at his home this afternoon and was met by a delegation of 300 Democrats and a brass band. This is his first trip home since his election to the Speakership, and the town was full of enthusiasm. A short address of welcome was made, to which Mr. Crisp briefly replied. Next week a great barbecue will be given in his honor, at which 10,000 voters are expected to be present. Mr. Crisp will make a formal speech then.

The First Rain in Three Years

San Antonio, Aug. 11. Heavy general rains have continued for several days over south western Texas, covering the drought region on the lower Rio Grande and extending into northern Mexico, where it had not rained for three years, and where much suffering exist-ed. There is a freshet in the Rio Grande for the first time in several years. Washouts on the railroads are numerous, but the downpour is invaluable, breaking an extended drought and ending much misery.

LOST OPPORTUNITIES IN CHINA.

erent Enterprises in Which English, French and Germans Resp the Harvest. WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.-Mr. Edward Bedloe of Philadelphia, United States Consulat Amor. China, writing under recent date, gives the following summary of lost American opportunities in China: "First-In the past five years the authorities have built a railroad in Formosa, between Tameul and Kelung, a distance of about sixtyfive miles. This road is said to have cost $120,000 per mile, and under the economical management now prevalent in the United States could have been built for one-third that price. So far as I can learn the engineers, contractors, draughtsmen, superintendents, builders, and foremen were drawn from every nationality except the 'Stars and Stripes.'

Second-In the past decade the Chinese have begun a vast system of intercontinental elegraph. Their lines already connect nearly all the great cities in the eastern half of the empire, and are being daily extended westward. In this great enterprise the harvest is being reaped by English, French, and Ger-

Third-Within the past eighteen months Li Hung Chang, the great Premier of China, has put into operation iron, steel, and machine works in Shan Lung, which promise to equal those of Krupp in Essen. A large amount of the highest European skill and knowledge has been furnished, chiefly by Great Britain. The United States was not in it. "Fourth-An enormous quantity of weapons and munitions of war are purchased every year by the Chinese Government. Among them are muskets, rifles, repeaters, revolvers, cannon, mortars, swords, powder, torpedoes, harness, and the like. The Armstrongs formerly controlled the business, but as their power waned they were succeeded, not by Americans, as should have been the case, but by the German, Krupp. The result is that a by the German, Krupp. The result is that a stream of wealth flows from Pekin to Berlingar a stream in seven figures—that should have gone and could have gone into American pockets. In the forts at Mekung in the Pescadores, and at Tainanfoo in Formosa, I found soldiers armed with old-style Springfield muskets. On inquiry I learned that these had been bought up at auction in the United States by European speculators, had been shipped as hallast across the Atlantic, there cleaned, polished, and varnished, and then resold to the Mongolian Government at an advance of over 1,000 per cent.

Mongolian Government at an advance of over 1,000 per cent.

"Fifth-Steam and electricity are beginning to make headway in China. The telephone, electric light, electroplating, steam launch, elevator, and stationary engine are becoming familiar, and are being used. More than a thousand Chinese are engaged in these callings, all or nearly all of whom have learned their calling from English experts, although America leads the world in electric science. It is hardly necessary to state that scores of Europeans find employment in these fields, and are handsomely paid for their services.

"Sixth-Incidental illustrations of openings for skilled American labor are found in ice factories, sods water works, paper mills, cotton mills, sugar refineries, camphor distilleries, glass works, shipyards, and graving docks. These are monopolized by Europeans, chiefly British.

"Seventh—The coast and river carrying factories, soda water works, paper mills, cotton mills, sugar refineries, camphor distilieries, glass works, shipyards, and igraving docks. These are monopolized by Europeans, chiefly British.

"Seventh—The coast and river carrying trade has passed to foreign control. The old but picturesque junk has been superseded by the attener and sailing vossel. Eight-tenths of this traffic belongs to Great Britain, one-tenth to Germany, and one-tenth to all the other nations of the world.

"The superiority of the four and five masted schooner over the bark and brig, and of the steel whaleback to the old-fashioned tramp steamship, together with the low trice of lahor, food, and coal in these lands, leads one to believe that our flag will once more be seen in these waters as of old, and will take its share of the rich freights always to be had.

"I hope that these facts, figures, and suggestions may be brought home to our great reading public. With right action we can increase our commerce and find golden fields for our bright, active young men, while, with wrong or foolish action, we are, to use a homely adage, 'cutting off our nose to spite our face."

CLAIMS AGAINST CHILL. A Convention for Their Settlement Finally Agreed Upon.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Minister Egan has definitely agreed with the Chillan Government upon a convention for the settlement of all unadjusted claims of citizens of the United States against Chill by means of a claims commission, to meet in Washington. This action of the Minister chronicles the satisfactory terof the Minister chronicles the satisfactory termination of a negotiation which has been pending for a long time. No general claims convention has ever been agreed upon with Chili, although claims of American citizens date back for more than haif a century. The greater portion of them have their origin in the Chili. Peruvian war, twelve years ago. Mr. Egan reports that in all the negotiations leading up to this settlement the Chilian Government has met him in the most friendly spirit. Much satisfaction is expressed at the Department of State at the successful result of our Minister's efforts in this and other matters recently brought to a conclusion.

Minister's efforts in this and other matters recently brought to a conclusion.

The agreement will have to be reported to Congress and ratified and a commission created and its powers defined by legislation before the claimants will be called upon to present their demands. Even after the awards are made further action by both Governments must be had before they can be paid. Past experience of the United States with mixed commissions has not been encouraging. The British Commission, under the treaty of 1871, gave what were deemed excessive damages against the United States in the way of reparation for Canadian fisheries. The French commission accomplished very little. The awards of the British Minister as arbitrator in the Mexican claims commission in the Well and La Abra cases have been upset by Congress as based on fraud. The awards of the Haytion commission, though in favor of the United States, were set aside by our own State Department as unjust to Hayti, and nothing has been paid under the awards thus made. Lastly, the findings of the Venezucian commission, which closed its labors in 1889, still remain unadjusted.

LITTLE CHANCE FOR COON.

Not Likely to be Named for the Vacancy in the Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 .- Every time a vacancy of any impertance occurs in the Treasury Department the name of Charles E. Coon of New York is brought to the front by some of his verzealous friends. The resignation of Assistant Secretary Crounse and the probable retirement of Assistant Secretary Nettleton at an early day will create two vacancies in the Treasury Department, both of which Mr. Coon formerly occupied. He was an efficient officer during his long service in the Treasury Department prior to the Cleveland Administration, and many of his friends would like to see him reënter the public service. When the Harrisen Administration was inaugurated a strong pressure was brought to bear upon the late Secretary Windom to restore Mr. Coon to his former place as assistant secretary. The opposition to him came from prominent New York politicians, who did not consider him of sufficient political importance to merit such a rich place. When Mr. Windom died and his successor was appointed, another effort was made in Mr. Coon's behalf. Secretary Foster was favorably inclined toward him, but again the politicians in New York refused to give their consent to his appointment. He went into the banking business with "Commodore" A. E. Bateman, and the latter failed, it is said, with a large sum of money in his pocket. Bateman unred up here at the recent meeting of the Republican National Committee as a proxy for the Georgia member. In official circles it is said that Mr Coon's friendship with Bateman is one of the principal objections to his recognition by the present Administration. sistant Secretary Crounse and the probable

United States Minister to Denmark, to proceed at once to Minister to Denmark, to proceed at once to Copenhagen. Mr. Carr is now at his home in Galesburg, Ill., on leave of absence. His presence in Denmark is necessary, because Mr. Ryder was the only representative of this Government there, with the exception of a Vice-Consul. This morning the Danish Minister in Washington informed the State Department that he had been notified by his Government that liyder had confessed to embezzlement and forgery. The department has not decided what course to pursue in the matter until a report of an official nature is made.

Counts Protest Against Decreased Salaries.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.-The Consular Bureau of the State Department anticipates vigorous objection from the different American Consular officers, whose salaries have been reduced by the appropriation bill for the fiscal duced by the appropriation bill for the fiscal year 1803. Many have already forwarded protests to the department. The Consuls say that it will be impossible for them to perform the duties required with the moneys appropriated. The only recourse they have, however, is to resign. State Department officials say the reduction will stop the issuing of the concular reports, which have proven more or less valuable to the country.

MYS. Allen of Natem Has the Honor of Naming Her Marblehead—A Minor Vessel of the New Navy with Strong Capabilities.

Boston, Aug. 11.—Before 1 o'clock to-day, the hour set for the launching of United States cruiser No. 11, the shipyard of Harrison Loring at South Boston was crowded. Assistant Secretary of the Navy James Russell Soley represented the Government and Gov. Russell and a number of members of the Legislature were present for Massachusetts. The city of Boston was also well represented by members of the Board of Aldermen and Common Council. At the appointed hour the signal was given to knock away the shores, and amid the cheers of the spectators Cruiser 11 slipped slowly down the ways into the water as the Marbiehead. Mrs. C. F. SOME NOTABLE FOREIGN WAR SHIPS. New Armor Clads Made Effective by High Speed and Good Battery Power.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 .- European dockyards show several powerful armored vessels now in process of completion, with others laid down or in contemplation. Spain will launch next year the Cataluna and Princessa de Asturias, armored cruisers of 7.000 tons, having 12-inch belt and 10%-inch battery armor, with engines of 13,000 horse power, giving 20 knots, and carrying good batteries of Hontoria guns. Of this class she has already the Vizcaya, the Oquendo, the Cisneros, and the Maria Teresa. They cost $3,000,-000 each, and form a fine fleet of active and effective armor clads. Two other noteworthy Spanish armored cruisers building are the Carlos V. and a sister ship, of 9,235 tons each, 15,000 horse power, 20 to 21 knots, and 12,000 miles radius of action at 10 knots. Spain goes in strongly for fast cruisers in place of battle ships, with a view to protecting her colonles and commerce. The Jewappes and Valony, new coast-service turret ships, are of the French navy. They have 17% inches of armor on the belt and turrets and 2% to 4 inches in the deck. The Rouvieres, launched a few months ago. and the Tréhonart have the same displace-ment as the pair just named, 6,590 tons, and also the same horse power. 7,200; but they have higher topsides, and in compensation less thick sides and guns of rather smaller Brest, of 11.882 tons, has 17% inches belt and 14% inches turret armor, and her 12,000 horse power should give her 18 knots. The Massena. of 11.700 tons, is also to have 18 knots, and to carry 17% inches of side armor. She is interesting from being fitted with three propellers, like our American protected cruiser Columbia. A sister ship to the Massena will follow. The battle ship Brennus, of 10.983 tons, has 15% inches of compound armor, and her principal battery consists of three 58-ton guns, two of them in the foremost turret and the other in the after turret. She is to have 17% knots speed. She is still a good way from completion, and her cost will be over $4,000,000. The Lazare Carnot, of 11,088 tons displacement, has 17% inches of belt armor and 14% of turret armor, with 18 knots way from completion, and her cost will be over $4,000,000. The Lazare Carnot, of 1,080 tons displacement, has 17% Inches of belt armor and 14% of turret armor, with 18 knots speed.

The Navarin, a Russian barbette battle ship of 9,476 tons, carries a coal supply of 700 tons, and makes 16 knots. She has a maximum thickness of 16 inches of armor on her partial belt, with twelve inches on her two barbettes, each of which contains a pair of 12-inch guns, while eight 6-inch guns are in the central battery. The George the victorious, of 10,280 tons, has 16 knots speed, 16 linches of armor, and six 12-inch, seven 6-inch, and eight 4-inch guns.

Last January the German armored cruiser Empress Augusta, of 6,052 tons, was launched at Kiel. This is another vessel having, like the Columbia and the Massens, three screw propellers, which are expected to yield 20 knots at the maximum. More important are the battle ships Wissenburg, Brandenburg, Friedrich Wilhelm, and a fourth now under construction at Stettin. These are all of 9,042 tons, with 15% to 11% inches of armor on the belt and 11% on the barbettes. They are to have a speed of 16 knots, and to carry six 11-inch and six 4-inch guns.

Italy's most notable new armored ship is one of the Sicillia type, begun at Castellamare. She is of 13,238 tons, and, if resembling the Sicilia in all respects, will have 18 inches of armor on her barbettes and reach a speed of 18 knots, while carrying, four 67-ton guns as her heaviest calibres. The Sardegna, of the same class, has the enormous horse power of 22,800, and makes 19 knots. She, like the Be Umberto, carries the same armament as the Sicilia and cach of these vessels will cost $5,000,000.

The eight great British battle ships of the Royal Sovereign class have already been so often described as to need but a brief additional reference. Their displacement is 14,150 tons, and they carry 18 inches of side armor and 17 inches of barbette armor, their main battery consists of four for high right was sessels have only 12, and they have

The dimensions of the Marblehead are as follows: Length on the mean-load water line, 257 feet; extreme breadth, 37 feet; depth of hold to under side of spar-deck blank amidships, 19 feet 6 inches; displacement in tons to load water line, 2000; indicated horse power, 5.400; maximum speed per hour, 18 knots in smooth water.

She is a twin-screw protected cruised, with protected deck. Among the notable improvements will be a coffer-dam protection extending through the entire machinery space. The torpedo outfit will consist of six torpedo guns for launching torpedoes. The battery will consist of two six-inch breech-loading rifles eight five-inch breech-loading rifles eight five-inch breech-loading rifles mounted in sponsos, four on each side of the cruiser six six-pounders and two one-pounder rapid-firing guns, and two Gatting guns.

The Marblehead was designed by Chief Contractor Theodore B. Wilson of the United States navy. The machinery, which is to be placed in position a few months after the launching, was designed by Engineer-in-Chief George W. Melville of the Navy Department.

TO BREAK UP A TRAIN-ROBBERS' NEST. Louisiana and Mississippi will Go After the Outlaws on Their Borders.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 11.-The recent murder of Henry Shirling in Washington parish, in this State, has called attention to the lawlessness existing there on the Mississippi border, and. as a result, the State Governments of Mississippi and Louisiana will cooperate to get rid of these desperadoes. Hitherto it has been impossible to do anything with them. because. being on the border, they could go from one State to the other when pursued by the Sheriff. That locality has become a retreat for murderers and outlaws, who find it a place of safety, and who trrrorize the neighborhood. All the persons engaged in the Shirling murder were criminals. The murdered man was a desperade and outlaw of the worst type. Although only 30 years old, he had murdered eight men, all of the murders being brutal and unprovoked. He was for years a terror to both Washington and Tangipahoa parishes. The murder some time ago of a man named Dock Duke was so cold-blooded that the people threatened lynching, and Shirling moved to Yazoo county, Miss. There he killed another man, and came back to the old haunts ile was at Tangipahoa station when the Illinois Central was robbed there, and was supposed to have had a hand in it. He certainly knew all about it. From there he moved out to Washington parish, where he was in-timate with Eugene Bunch, Col. Hobgood, and other train robbers.

Shirling formed the idea of betraying the Shirling formed the idea of betraving the train robbers to the railroad detectives and getting some of the reward offered for them, and was in communication with the detectives at the time of their death. He had fixed on Col. Hologood as a man easily to be captured, as he was reputed to have less courage than the others, for whom there was a standing reward of $1,500, and he kept Hologood always in sight. His intention leaked out, and the gang arranged to kill him. Hologood always in sight. His intention leaked out, and the gang arranged to kill him. Hologood acted the stool pigeon in the matter. The men met at the house of one of the gang. When they left Hologood sent Shirling back to shut the gate. Here an ambush had been arranged covered with brushwood and vines, and Shirling was shot down.

He had his Winchester over his shoulder and two pistols in his belt, but the first shot was fatal. He got his pistol out, but he was dead before his body reached the ground. Of course the assassin was seen by no one, but the calibre of the bullets in the body proves it to be Runch, for no one in the neighborhood except him had a ride of that calibre, the largest made. Col. Hologood, the stool pigeon in the murder, assisted Runch in his robbery of the New Orleans and Northwestern Railroad, and was the man who held Engineer Jarvis of the Hilling's Central while Bunch went through the train. The desperadoes and outlaws are too strong in numbers and too desperate for the local authorities to do anything with them, and the State Governments of Louisiana and Mississippi have been appealed to and asked to suppress them and break up the nest of New Orleans. train robbers to the railroad detectly

SAM HILLIER'S PROMUTION.

Once a Newsboy and Now Confidential Me

Washington, Aug. 11 .- Sam Hillier, a former newsboy from Toledo, who has been appointed confidential messenger to Chairman Carter at Republican headquarters in New York, is quite a character in his way. He was a conspicuous figure at both of the National Con ventions. At Minneapolis he was always with the noislest crowd, and at Chicago he carned several dollars trying to work up the Boies boom from the balcony in the Palmer House. Sam was a page in the Capitol for a short time, but he was too progressive for slow Con-time, but he was too progressive for slow Congressmen, and was removed. When the special train for Washington correspondents left the capital city for Minneapolis last June Sam got aboard the train and secreted himself until after Harrisburg was passed. He was so humble that many of the correspondents asked the genial George W. Boyd, in charge of the train, to refrain from putting the stowaway off.

When the Convention assembled at Minneapolis Sam appeared on the floor as presiding many of the newspaper men for small loans, and nothing was seen of him until the Democrats began to assemble at Chicago. The Boles becomers employed him to wave pictures of their favorite son from the balcony of the Palmer House. On one or two occasions Sam was protty roughly handled, but he turned up as page in the wigwam, and now he further advances his political prospects as messenger to Chairman Carter. Sam may become a national issue yet.

Suggestions to sightseers and practical informa-tion for practical people. The Sun will publish, in time for use at the Columbus Celebration next October, a complete, unique, and practical guidebook to this city. It will tell visitors what the sights are, how to reach them, where to lodge and board while here and the cost, where to do wholesale or retail shopping, how to amuse themselves, and get rest when weary of sightseeing. It will be altraclively printed, pleasant to read, and the subject matter will be divided and arranged in a way to insure the best results. The retail price will be $ cents per copy. The Sun's Guide will also offer unequalled and exceptional opportunities to advertisers. Those who wish further information on this subject should address The Guide Book Department of the New York Sun.

Brien Bragged Her Out of Bed, Bent Her

and Flung Her Into the Bushes. New Haven, Aug. 11.-Nicholas O'Brien, who with his family, lives in a dilapidated farmhouse on the road to Milton, returned home late on Tuesday night from a funeral. He was intoxicated, and while in a drunken frenzy pulled his wife out of bed by the hair, dragged her out of doors and into the street and to-ward Litchfield, a distance of several rods, where he kicked and pounded her for several minutes. As a final impulse of his drunken rage he lifted her up by the hair, and, clutching her throat with one hand, choked her until she was almost insensible. He then gave her push into the weeds by the roadside and re push into the weeds by the roadside and returned to the house, where he tirrew himself upon the bed and was soon in a drunken sleep.

Two hours later David Buell, who lives a distance of about one mile from the O'Brien place, in passing the O'Brien house heard a moan in the bushes by the roadside. He found Mrs. O'Brien covered with blood and dying. Mr. Buell picked her up and carried her to the house, sending one of the children for Dr. Sedgwick. The doctor administered stimulants, but was unable to save her life, and at 2:30 she died. O'Brien has been arrested and bound over on a charge of murder.

The Sons of Veterans' Encampment,

HELENA, Aug. 11.-The parade of the National Encampment of the Sons of Veterans yesterday afternoon was a great success. The weather was cool and bright, and all the secre societies, trades unions, militia companies State, county, and city officials were enthusiastic participants in the parade. Two short business sessions were held by the Sons of Vetetans. A resolution retaining the titles for officers used the past year was adopted. An effort had been made to change the regula-tions in this respect to conform with what they were two years ago.

LITTLE ROCK, Aug. 11.-The case of S. R. Brown, a clerk in the Circuit Clerk's office of this city, is causing great interest among the doctors. He fell from a second story window in the Court House four weeks ago and was carried to his home in what was thought to be a dying condition. He has remained since that time in a comatose condition, neither recognizing any one nor uttering a syllable. This morning, to the astonishment of his attendants, he lit a cigar and smoked it. He is still fed with a tube. His case is said to be without precedent in medical records.
